February 4-8, 2019

Organised by Department of Veterinary Pathology
Madras Veterinary College
Chennai -600 007

About the TANUVAS

The first Veterinary and Animal Sciences University in Asia was established on 20th September 1989 with its head quarters in Chennai with the name Tamil Nadu Veterinary and Animal Sciences University (popularly abbreviated as TANUVAS) after realizing the importance of education and research in animal and fisheries sciences so as to increase productivity towards better income generation for the farmers. TANUVAS has been conferred with the prestigious “Sardar Patel Outstanding ICAR Institution Award- 2011”, recognizing its outstanding performance in education, research and extension in the country in the field of agricultural sciences including Veterinary and Animal Sciences. TANUVAS is the FIRST VETERINARY UNIVERSITY in the country to bag this coveted award.

About the Madras Veterinary College

This premier institution was started in 1903 and is a constituent unit of Tamil Nadu Veterinary and Animal Sciences University. Department of Veterinary Pathology is a constituent unit of Madras Veterinary College, actively engaged in teaching, research and extension. The department is well equipped with an excellent necropsy facility and histopathology laboratory catering to the needs of the students, faculty and researchers. Faculty members and students actively participate in poultry, canine and laboratory animal research.

About the Workshop

The workshop involves lectures and hands-on training on application of histopathology and immunohistochemistry in the tumour diagnosis. Histopathological techniques and immunohistochemistry are widely used in the diagnosis and prognosis of the tumours. This workshop is useful to the faculty and post graduate students doing research on cancer biology.
